

Savremene studije bezbednosti/Contemporary Security Studies
Call for Papers

Dear colleagues,

Savremene studije bezbednosti/Contemporary Security Studies (formerly Annual Review of the Faculty of Security Studies) is preparing two issues for the year 2021, and we kindly invite You to submit a manuscript.

Savremene studije bezbednosti/Contemporary Security Studies is the prominent scientific journal of the Faculty of Security Studies (University of Belgrade) aimed at dynamic and thematically focused informing and provision of up-to-date knowledge from theory and practice in Security Studies. The Journal publishes up-to-date scientific articles that make substantial contribution to the development of ideas and improvement of security practice, and focus on theoretical, methodological, and empirical research within the following areas of study – global/international, regional, and national security; and topics – strategic, urban, human, corporate, and ecological security.

Having in mind the last year's global impact of the coronavirus pandemic on all the aspects of personal, social, and political life, we decided that these two issues should be focused on security aspects of global public health and the pandemic consequences. In that manner, we encourage you to prepare manuscripts focusing on different security perspectives and methodological approaches about causes and consequences of the coronavirus pandemic. It would serve as a joint contribution to scholarly and professional documenting and analysis of lessons learned, as well as to provision of appropriate recommendations for future dealing with the same or similar global crisis.

Manuscripts are submitted through a system for journals online editing and publishing, Assistant of Serbian Citation Index (SCIndeks). Visit Assistant to login in or register an account, and submit your manuscript.

Submission deadlines are June 1st and November 1st, 2021.

Papers should be prepared in accordance with the Author Guidelines on the Journal page within the SCIndeks system.

Yours sincerely,

Editorial Board
